Summer Bioethics Internships at the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences

The National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences (NIEHS), a branch of the National Institutes of Health (NIH) located in the Research Triangle Park, NC, has two unpaid bioethics internship positions available in the summer of 2018.

The interns will work with Dr. David B. Resnik, NIEHS Bioethicist. Internship activities will include participating in a seminar on ethical and legal issues in research involving human subjects, attending institutional review board and medical ethics committee meetings, and assisting Dr. Resnik with a research project.

Starting and ending times are flexible, but should be no earlier than May 14 and no later than August 17. Since these are unpaid positions, interns should be prepared to cover the costs of housing and other expenses.

To apply for a position, please send a letter of interest, curriculum vita, and two letters of reference by email to: David B. Resnik, JD, PhD, Bioethicist, NIEHS/NIH. Email: resnikd@niehs.nih.gov. Phone: 919 541 5658.

Deadline for applications is March 1, 2018.
