Duke SCIENCE & SOCIETY | FILM SERIES

Erin Brockovich

Tuesday, November 17
6:30 –8:45 p.m.

304 Research Dr.
North Building, 232

What does the environmental justice really look like?

How do lawyers and scientists explain or debunk stories linking cancer and other disease to the environment? Does science support the claims?

Join us for a screening of the film Erin Brokovich and a conversation with experts in law and the environment. We'll discuss real outcomes in U.S. courts as we try to get a better handle on how to rectify communities damaged by the environmentally destructive activities of others.

Snacks will be provided!

scienceandsociety.duke.edu